The Conference Board of Canada and the DeGroot School of Business at McMaster University congratulate these individuals who have earned the professional designation of Chartered Director* from Canada's only university accredited corporate director education program.

To earn the prestigious Chartered Director designation, participants must successfully complete the intensive residential program that includes five modules, full Board and Board Committee simulation and comprehensive individual examinations. The program requires continuing professional education and adherence to a code of professional conduct.

The Directors College salutes these individuals for their commitment to strengthening corporate governance in Canada. Together, we are raising the bar for professional standards among corporate directors.

*"The Directors College", "Chartered Director", "C.Dir.", and "The Board Simulation" are official marks of McMaster University.

"I found the Directors College to be an excellent survey of the important matters of which a director must be aware in today's corporate environment. The quality of the presentations and materials was first-rate and the perspectives gained were invaluable. I would highly recommend the Directors College."

– John Manley, C.Dir., McCarthy Tétrault LLP

"An informative, thought provoking, challenging, demanding course which stresses the need for excellence in all aspects of directorship. It covers all the right questions which directors should be asking management and why. A pinnacle experience."

– Richard J. McIntosh, C.Dir., OMERS

"An enthusiastic faculty, an accomplished roster of visiting directors and executives, combined with committed, experienced and knowledgeable participants, leads to a comprehensive understanding of what directors need to know and do in the current business climate. That, combined with a comprehensive examination, results in the most professional post-graduate experience one could ever expect."
