The Directors College,* founded by The Conference Board of Canada and McMaster University's DeGroot School of Business, congratulates these individuals who have earned the professional designation of Chartered Director* from Canada's only university accredited director education program.

To earn the prestigious Chartered Director* designation, participants must successfully complete:

- the intensive five-module residential program that includes a full board and board committee simulation module
- the comprehensive four-hour examination

Maintaining the designation requires compliance with the continuing education requirements and adherence to the professional code of conduct.

*The Directors College, "Chartered Director," "C. Dir.," "H.R.C.C.C.," and "The Board Simulation," are official marks of McMaster University.
